EFFINGHAM WINS PRESIDENTS' ARTS FRIENDLY COMMUNITY AWARD
Illinois Arts Alliance and Illinois Municipal League to Honor Effingham on September 26, 2008 at IML Conference

Chicago and Springfield – The Illinois Arts Alliance (IAA) and the Illinois Municipal League (IML) selected 17 communities to receive the 2008 Illinois Arts Friendly Community Awards. The City of Effingham received the prestigious Presidents' Choice Award for a small community. The Village of Arlington Heights received the Presidents' Choice Award for a large community, and 15 other communities captured Honorable Mentions.

Mayor John Lange of Effingham will accept the Presidents' Choice Award at the Illinois Municipal League's annual conference at the Chicago Hilton on Friday, September 26, 2008. IML President Gerald Bennet, Mayor of Palos Hills; Alderman Rich Walker of the City of Edwardsville; and Mayor Al Larson of the Village of Schaumburg will present the award designating Effingham as an Arts Friendly Community.

"It is a great honor for the City of Effingham to be recognized for its efforts in promoting the arts by the Illinois Art Alliance," said Mayor Lange. "Our local artisans along with my staff and community committees have dedicated themselves to keeping the arts alive in our community."

The City of Effingham has strongly supported the Rosebud Theatre, which opened in 2007 and is home to national and local performers, and has encouraged other arts programs such as the Artisan Fair, the Sculpture on the Avenues exhibition, and Effingham's high school film festival.

"Our residents understand the importance of arts and that our City does support the arts. Whether it is a high school student working on a film for the festival or an elderly woman painting her final masterpiece, artists know Effingham is a place where they can proudly show their work and be appreciated for their talents," explained Mayor Lange.

The Village of Arlington Heights captured the Presidents' Choice Award for a large community.

The 15 communities receiving Honorable Mentions are Aurora, Bartlett, Belvidere, Carol Stream, Danville, Elmwood Park, Hickory Hills, Highland Park, Hoffman Estates, Lombard, Orland Park, Palatine, Princeton, Tinley Park, Urbana, and Waukegan.

"As one of the state's leading industries, the arts enhance our quality of life, fuel creativity and innovation, and contribute to an overall culture of excellence in our neighborhoods and schools," said Ra Joy, executive director of the Illinois Arts Alliance. "It's a great honor to celebrate local communities that recognize the arts and creativity as central and indispensable to their residents. I hope the strong and consistent support for the arts demonstrated by our 2008 award winners will serve as an inspiration to other communities in Illinois."

“By investing in the arts, we can inspire and strengthen our communities,” said Al Larson, Village President of Schaumburg. “Each of these communities provides a model for how mayors can collaborate with arts organizations and artists to improve the quality of life of all residents.” Schaumburg received the inaugural Presidents’ Award in 2003.

The Illinois Arts Friendly Community Awards serve to recognize municipalities that support the arts and to celebrate municipal leaders who use the arts to build healthy communities. Two Presidents' Awards are presented annually – one to a small community with a population less than 20,000 and one to a larger community. Previous recipients of the Presidents’ Awards are Schaumburg, Rockford, Rock Island, Carbondale, and Evanston (large community), and Fairfield, Palos Park, Prophetstown, Marshall, and Lincolnwood (small community).

All nominations are judged on four criteria: Is the municipality’s commitment to the arts ongoing; Do the municipality’s arts activities meet a clearly defined community needs, and are the results tangible; Is broad and diverse support for the municipality’s arts activities present in the community; Is the municipality creative and innovative in integrating the arts with its overall municipal strategies?
